Since the pandemic began, the overall number of city-funded shelter and transitional housing beds has increased by around 500, to a total of 1,558, according to the city. (At last count in 2019, there were roughly 4,000 people homeless in Oakland.)

The Oaklandside

The East Oakland Collective (EOC) is a member-based community organizing group invested in serving the communities of deep East Oakland by working towards racial and economic equity. With programming in civic engagement and leadership, economic empowerment, neighborhood and transportation planning, and homeless services and solutions, they help amplify underserved communities from the ground up. They are committed to driving impact in the landscape, politics and economic climate of deep East Oakland.

LEVERAGING COMMUNITY SOLUTIONS: 20%

The East Oakland Collective (EOC) is a member-based community organizing group invested in serving the communities of deep East Oakland by working towards racial and economic equity. With programming in civic engagement and leadership, economic empowerment, neighborhood and transportation planning, and homeless services and solutions, they help amplify underserved communities from the ground up. They are committed to driving impact in the landscape, politics and economic climate of deep East Oakland.

SYSTEMS-LEVEL CHANGE: 20%

The Coalition on Homelessness organizes homeless people and front line service providers to create permanent solutions to homelessness, while working to protect the human rights of those forced to remain on the streets. They have developed the leadership skills of homeless San Franciscans to forge true solutions to the housing crisis and beat back mean-spirited attacks against them.